In the current economic and political conditions of Russia's development projects is a public-private partnership can be a real tool for Quitting the difficult situation. The state represented by bodies of regional and local authorities with the help of publicprivate partnership will be able to move from direct budgetary financing of projects to a promising model for attracting private funds, thereby increasing the efficiency of their operations. There is a need to strengthen the system of interaction between government and the private sector, as it will lead to the creation of conditions for increasing the competitiveness of the public sector through more effective use of state property, investment in the economy, modernization of industrial and social infrastructure, improving the quality of goods, works and services.
